The Dead.

The dead are indeed the only people that never grow old. Consider your little brother and sister who died long ago; they remain in death and in remembrance the same young things forever. It is fourteen years this evening since the writer's sister left this world. She was fifteen years old then—she is fifteen years old yet. I have grown older since by fourteen years, but she has never changed as they advanced; and if God spares me to fourscore, I never shall think of her as other than the youthful creature she faded. The other day I listened as a poor woman told of the death of her first-born child. He was two years old. She had a small washing-green, across which was stretched a rope that came in the middle close to the ground. The boy was leaning on the rope, swinging backward and forward, and shouting with delight. The mother went into her cottage and lost sight of him for a minute; and when she returned the little man was lying across the rope, dead. It had got under his chin; he had not sense to push it away; and he was suffocated.

The mother told me, and I believe truly, that she had never been the same person since; but the thing which mainly struck me was, that though it is eighteen years since then, she thought of her child as an infant of two years yet; it is a little child she looks for to meet her at the gate of the Golden City. Had her child lived, he would be twenty years old now; he died, and he is only two; he is two yet; he will never be more than two. The little rosy face of that morning, and the half-articulate voice, would have been faintly remembered by the mother had they gradually died into boyhood and manhood; but that day stereotyped them; they remain unchanged.

Have you seen, my reader, the face that had grown old in life, grow young after death?—the expression of many years since, lost for long, come out startlingly in the features, fixed and cold? Every one has seen it; and it is sometimes strange how rapidly the change takes place. The marks of pain fade out, and with them the marks of age. I once saw an aged lady die. She had borne sharp pain for many days with the endurance of a martyr; she had to bear sharp pain to the very last. The features were tense and rigid with suffering; they remained so while life remained. It was a beautiful sight to see the change that took place the very instant of dissolution. The features, sharp for many days with pain, in that instant recovered the old aspect of quietude which they had borne in health; the tense, tight look was gone. You saw the signs of pain go out. You felt that all suffering was over. It was no more of course than the working of physical law; but in that case it seemed as if there was a further meaning conveyed. And so it seems to me when the young look comes back on the departed Christian's face. Gone, it seems to say, where the progress of time shall no longer bring age or decay. Gone where there are beings whose life may be reckoned by centuries, but in whom life is fresh and young, and always will be so. Close the aged eyes! Fold the aged hands in rest! Their owner is no longer old!—Recollections of a Country Parson.

CARTER'S MURDER.—Two of the murderers of Carter, not long since came to Devil's Head, about eight miles from here, and made a settler there write to Olympia about them, at their dictation, they holding a loaded gun at his head while he was writing. They stated that they wanted to give themselves up, and would be back in about ten days for that purpose. First, though they wanted to communicate with Capt. DeLacy, in whose employ one of them had been, for "they knew," they said, that he would speak right. They stated also that old Phames was dead. Messrs. Summers and Nixon went to the Devil's Head to get the Indians, but they were not there, according to agreement. Carter, it has since been ascertained, was murdered while sitting on his bed. The murderers, two in number, sat one on each side of him, and at the same time, plunged their knives into him. He was found dead with his eyes wide open, and a pool of blood beside him. There has nothing yet transpired to show that this murder was anything less than an unprovoked act of hostility on the part of the Indians against the whites.—Olympia Pioneer.

Trade and Resources of the South.

In consequence of the agitation upon the doctrines of secession which is at present being indulged in by the press and people of every portion of the United States, it may not be uninteresting to glance at the resources which the Southern States will have to rely on in case they adhere to their expressed determination of seceding from the Union:

De Bow, the statistician, gives some interesting facts in relation to the trade and resources of the South. Her cotton crops alone, for the season ending in 1860, amounted to 4,300,000 bales, at $54 each—equaling $232,000,000, or $60 for every slave, and this too in the face of a continually declining market. This cotton keeps in operation 2,350,938 hands and 37,245,836 spindles; and these hands are exclusive of the multitude employed in other branches of trade.

The London Cotton Supply Reporter, in speaking of England, says: "Upwards of 500,000 workers are now employed in our cotton factories, and it has been estimated that at least 4,000,000 persons are dependent on the cotton trade for subsistence."

The commerce of the South is no inconsiderable sum. Her exports for the year 1859, according to the United States reports, and which are never full, amounted to $262,560,394, as follows:

Naval Stores.....	$ 3,695,474
Rice.....	2,207,148
Tobacco.....	21,074,038
Sugar.....	31,455,241
Cotton.....	294,128,333

Which 4,000,000 slaves and $65 per hand. This is exclusive of values consumed at home—the North taking alone of Southern products of every kind, cotton, sugar, naval stores, tobacco, grain, lumber, wool, hides, market products, etc., $200,000,000.

The $262,000,000 of exports is remitted back to the North in the shape of sterling bills, or in produce, the commerce being done in northern ships. Thus the North receives annually from the South the enormous aggregate of $462,560,394.

SALE OF VENETIA.—This proposition is still agitated. The press of Europe seem to be gradually preparing the public mind for some such important event. The Italian question is now confined to close quarters. "Sell or fight" seems now the only alternative Austria has left. The following communication to the Gazette de Cologne, dated Venetia, Nov. 24th, is significant:

We learn from Paris that a complete understanding now exists between England and France, based upon the English note of the 27th of October, relative to the Italian question. This agreement will be shown by the nomination of Ambassador Extraordinary to the Court of King Victor Emmanuel as soon as the Italian Parliament has proclaimed the constitution of the kingdom of Italy under the sceptre of that sovereign. Further, we are assured that the Western Powers will guarantee the new kingdom to the House of Savoy. With regard to Venetia, France, which lately made the programme of Milan the basis of its Italian policy, now, it is said, takes completely the English point of view. It is known that the latter Power considers any act of aggression against Venetia as more or less premature, and that it has made representations in this sense through its Minister at Turin. For this reason there is ground for anticipating a diplomatic arrangement respecting Venetia.

CURIOUS PROPERTY OF IRON.—In 1860, Mr. Marsh, an able chemist of the royal arsenal, England, discovered that it is invariably the case with iron, which has remained a considerable time under water, when reduced to small grains or an impalpable powder, to become red-hot, and ignite any substance with which it comes in contact. This is to be found by scraping some corroded metal from a gun, which ignited the paper containing it, and burnt a hole in his pocket. The knowledge of this fact is of immense importance, as it may account for many spontaneous fires and explosions, the origin of which has not been traced. A piece of rusty iron, brought in contact with a bale of cotton, in a warehouse or on ship-board, may occasion extensive conflagration and the loss of many lives. The tendency of moistened particles of iron to ignite was discovered by the French chemist, Lemary, as far back as 1670.

HEAVY FRAUDS.—One Tardiff, formerly commissary of police at Arles, Marseilles, Saint Briere, and Tonneins, was recently tried by the Court of Assizes of the Cotes du Nord, for forgery. He had, it appeared, for upwards of twenty years been in the habit of putting into circulation forged bills of exchange, and as many as forty different cases of forgery were proved to have been committed by him in the space of the last ten years; many of the bills he paid, but on his recent forgeries 357,000 francs and due. Whilst practising these frauds he affected great piety. He was declared guilty and condemned to 10 years hard labor.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Diseases of Women.—Medical science in all ages have been directed towards alleviating the many maladies incident to females, but Professor Holloway, by diligent study and attentive observation was induced to believe that nature had provided a remedy for those special diseases, and after vast research succeeded in compounding his celebrated Ointment and Pills, which embody the principle naturally designed for the relief and cure of disorders peculiar to women of all ages and constitutions, whether residing in warm or cold climates. They have repeatedly corrected disordered functions which had defied the usual drugs prescribed by medical men, and still more satisfactory is it that the malady is relieved completely and permanently.

The British Columbia Missionary Meeting.

A Missionary Meeting came off on Nov. 30, at the Mansion House, London, for the purpose of aiding "the British Columbia Mission." The sum of £600 was raised. It must have been a very grand affair indeed, were we to judge from the following list of notabilities which we take from the Times:

Among the noblemen and gentlemen present were Lord Stratford de Redcliffe, the Bishop of Oxford, Mr. Chichester Fortescue, M. P., Under Secretary for the Colonies, Mr. Henry Hulse Borens, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, Mr. Gurney Hoare, Mr. Henry Hoare, Mr. Wm. Gladstone, Sir Harry Verney, M. P., Dr. Milman, Dean of St. Paul's, Dr. Trench, Dean of Westminster, Archdeacon Sinclair, Archdeacon Bickert, Mr. Tite, M. P., Mr. William Cotton, Sir John Lubbock, Mr. Robert Smith, the Rev. John Davis, Captain Gordon, M. P., Mr. J. Abel Smith, M. P., Mr. W. H. Bodkin, Assistant-Judge for Middlesex; the Rev. H. Hawkins, Rev. Canon Jennings, Mr. S. Gregson, M. P., Mr. J. Salt, and last but not least, Miss Burdett Coutts, the founder of the Mission.

The Lord Mayor presided over the meeting. Among the apologies for non-attendance which were read was one from the Duke of Newcastle, who was prevented by a Cabinet meeting. The Rev. John Garrett, Secretary to the Mission, spoke first, and detailed what had been done, and concluded by stating that Dr. Hills "had made a vigorous determination to maintain equal privilege with respect to worship for the white and colored population." The Bishop of London moved the first resolution:

That this meeting desirous to express its thankfulness for the safe arrival in British Columbia of the Bishop and his band of clergy; and acknowledging that their difficult position in that far off land calls for special sympathy and support from their fellow Christians at home.

The good bishop after opening in the usual missionary spirit, made the following interesting disclosures:

During the last twelve months a great work had been begun and sustained in Columbia, and had that not been so, another great work of a wholly different description would have been achieved; for, in the words of old Latimer, there was one bishop who never slept at his post, and who was always sowing broadcast the seeds of evil. But for the exertions of the Bishop of Columbia and his coadjutors during the last year, who could say how much of evil would now have been rampant in that distant dependency? The specialty of this mission was that the subjects of it were men of many kinds and races. It was a mission, certainly, to our own countrymen, but they formed but a small portion of the population there. For example, at the time of the settlement of Douglas, which was a fair specimen of the general state of society, there were 8 colored men, 20 Mexicans and Spaniards, 37 Chinese, 16 Frenchmen and Italians, 4 men from Central Europe, 4 from the North of Europe, 73 citizens of the United States, and 35 British subjects. There, too, the whole community was in the proportion of 201 males to only two females (Hear, hear). There was, besides, hardly such a thing as a home in that district. How much need, therefore, was there to send forth the humanizing influences of our own Church to support and benefit those homeless men of many races. (Hear, hear) The Bishop spoke in one of his letters of the renowned Astoria, an American settlement, which he passed on going out to the scene of his mission, and in which he said there was no place of worship, though a year had elapsed since it was founded. He (the Bishop of London) trusted that no British settlement in the colony would be left in such a state.

The allusion to "one bishop," we presume, must either mean the devil, or somebody else. The statistics of Douglas taken from that interesting periodical, "An Occasional Paper," has evidently led the good bishop astray. It is not a fair, but is a most unfair "specimen" of the state of society in British Columbia. "There was hardly such a thing as a home in that district," which was a fair specimen of the country. Had it been stated there were no men of elegant leisure, we might have admitted it, as they were all moral and industrious; but stating our country to be homeless, is certainly economizing the truth; and the good done by the Mission in bringing us before the British public is thus partially neutralized. "The renowned Astoria" is apparently fished up again from "An Occasional Paper," with the additional information that, though founded for a whole year, it was without a minister. We think this must be a mistake, for we remember reading of Astoria nearly thirty years ago.

Mr. C. Fortescue, M. P. and Under Secretary for the Colonies, then came forward to second the resolution. After alluding to his connection with the twin Colonies, and the interest he felt towards christianizing them, he uses the following expressive language to show the impossibility of connection between the Church and State here:

The Colonial office and those who represented the government of this country had a natural and proper connection with the great work in which the meeting was engaged; and he wished to remind them that the relations really were between the government and the Church in that colony. They were not such as existed between the State and the Church in this country. No such relations did exist, or could exist between the Church and the State in a new community just forming in British North America. The system of State endowments was absolutely so alien to the British dominions, that it would be useless to attempt to introduce it. (Hear, hear) That conviction had been fully recognized by the government here and in the colony, and by no one more heartily than by the Bishop of Columbia. At first some suspicion that an English bishop was going there; articles were written in the newspapers against the establishment of a State Church, and the House of Assembly adopted a resolution in the same sense; but within a very short time the whole scene changed, for, by the tact and excellent judgment shown by the bishop, he had succeeded in turning the current of popular feeling in his favor. He threw himself at once on the voluntary efforts of the people, and the result was that he was cordially and heartily welcomed by them. (Hear, hear.) But they (the meeting) could not conceal from themselves that while, on the one hand, the voluntary system was impossible there, the voluntary system was not without its difficulties at the present moment, though those difficulties would probably vanish in the course of time.

"Occasional Papers" still flits across the imagination even of the dignitaries of the Colonial office. The idea that because a bishop was coming here there must be a State Church, was never for a moment entertained by the newspapers that disowned the question of Church and State. It only was discussed in the COLONIST; and that was in relation to and against the renewal of the Rev. Mr. Cridge's stipend, as Chaplain to the colony. We are happy that point was carried. Our knowledge of colonial church matters was a little too extensive to feel alarmed at the appointment of a bishop. Besides, up to the time of the arrival of Dr. Hills, his movements scarcely attracted any notice here. "The tact and judgment of the bishop" is, therefore, just so much nonsense on that subject. But while "throwing himself on the voluntary efforts of the people," he also enclosed a portion of the church reserve without the consent of the colony. Such voluntarism is unsuited to our latitude. And whilst we with pleasure welcome the established church in common with all others, we trust the inconsistency alluded to will disappear.

Mr. Fortescue then spreads out his knowledge of our population: "There was hardly a spot on which there were a hundred fixed and settled inhabitants." Were such an assertion made here, the author would be thought fit for a lunatic asylum. He alludes to the "un-English character of the population" as one reason for fostering the church. Between Governor Douglas and "Occasional Papers," they make out that there are no English here, except those who have not yet lost the scent of the primrose. Mr. Fortescue requires illumination, which we think he will get. If anything were necessary to prove it, then read this:

The Indians were under peculiarly favorable circumstances for Christian teaching; numbers of them were settled in their own villages in the vicinity of the town of Victoria, presided over by a Governor, who was willing to aid in the work of their civilization.

Favorable circumstances, indeed! were they for their destruction. Indians to be purified and elevated in the scale of humanity should be removed from the vicinity of the civilized, and thus escape the vices of the latter. And as for the care of the Governor, it is rather apocryphal. Shooting, murder, and butcheries were carried on night and day for a year-and-a-half among the Indians here; till the press and the people denounced the unlawful licence allowed to savages, and threatened to punish the Indians themselves: when our excellent Governor could brave public opinion no longer, then the Indians were disarmed, and quiet restored.

The next resolution was offered by the Bishop of Oxford. It recognized the national importance of missionary labors among the Indians, Chinese, and colored people, and requested the Metropolitan Committee to continue their exertions to increase the funds of the Mission. He supported the resolution in a very good speech for the occasion. The only new feature was that the climate of the Diocese of British Columbia was rendered very mild by the influence of the Gulf Stream. What Gulf!

The motion was briefly seconded by Mr. Borens, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, who said that, had it not been for that company, the whole territory which was now preserved to the Crown of Great Britain would have been overrun by Americans and all sorts of people. He added that it had been a great object with the company to protect the red man, and its territory afforded the only example in which his race had increased instead of decreasing, after contact with white men—a result which had been attained by the company having always set its face against countenancing the use of ardent spirits among the Indians. He assured the meeting that the company would use its best exertions to support the influence of the Government and the Bishop in the colony.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

COURT OF ASSIZES.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 30, 1861.

Trial of Noel LeClerc for Perjury.

The Court was called to order at 10 o'clock, his lordship Chief Justice Cameron presiding.

Noel LeClerc, a Frenchman, was arraigned on an indictment charging him with perjury, in having sworn that in July last officers Carey and Taylor of the police force had accepted a bribe from him of $25, while he was under arrest by these officers for selling whisky to Indians. The prisoner pleaded "Not Guilty."

The following gentlemen were empaneled as a jury to try the case; Wm. Rowland, John Martin, Arthur Peatt, Henry E. Wilby, Robt. Laing, Walter Miles, Thos. Estall, Jonathan Nutt, Thos. P. Dougall, Thos. C. Nuttall, Robt. M. Wilson, and Wm. Leigh, foreman.

Messrs. Ring and Dennes appeared for the defence, and Attorney General Cary for the prosecution.

The Attorney General opened the case for the prosecution. He said this was a case of peculiar importance. LeClerc was an Indian whisky-seller, detected in the act of pursuing his vile traffic by Carey and Taylor, and as he alleges, in order to induce those officers to allow him to escape, he gave them the $25 as a bribe. They took the money but took him also to the station-house, and the next day he was fined by the magistrate for selling the whisky. I regret to say that the crime of perjury is becoming altogether too frequent. In this colony, perjury walks with its head erect. In broad day it enters every Court and place; hardly a witness is to be believed. We find perjury committed in nearly every case, civil or criminal—in that box men perjure themselves to any extent. If we wish to feel that our honor, our lives, or our property are secure, we must put forth the strong arm of the law and check this rapidly growing evil. Mr. Cary then alluded to the evidence he expected to produce and called officer Carey for the prosecution:

Joseph W. Carey, ex-sergeant of police, sworn—Remember Noel LeClerc laying an information against me for receiving a bribe sometime in Oct.; saw him sign his information [objection made by counsel for defence, and witness allowed to retire].

Harace Smith, superintendent of police, sworn—[Information handed witness]: saw Noel LeClerc sign this information against last witness, whom he accused of taking a bribe.

Cross-examined—Know Frank Rinquet; heard nothing of the conversation between Rinquet and Judge Pemberton, before LeClerc laid his information; saw Rinquet and LeClerc in Court together. Don't know whether they had an interview with Mr. Pemberton or not.

Joseph W. Carey, recalled—Sergeant Taylor was with me when I took LeClerc in charge; also an Indian; I arrested him first; Taylor was near me when I did so; never asked LeClerc how much he would give me to let him go; Taylor, to my knowledge, never asked him the same question; LeClerc gave the Indian $7 50, the amount he had taken from him for a keg of whisky; I received no money from LeClerc; he asked to be allowed to go to his house; we allowed him to do so; said nothing to Taylor about going away; went to my own house after I had put LeClerc in jail; know Frank Rinquet; he played a fiddle at the squaw dancehouse on Kanaka street; searched his house once for an escaped prisoner.

Cross-examined—Did you ever tamper with the police books?

Ans.—No.

Q.—Did you make any erasures in the police books?

Ans.—I did not. I altered a charge in the jail book.

Q.—Was there a signature attached to that entry in the jail book?

Ans.—Yes; one of the jailors'; I made the erasure in the presence of the jailor; I was dismissed by Mr. Pemberton from the police.

Re-examined for the prosecution. Q.—You were not a very great favorite at the police office when you were there? Objected to by Mr. Ring, and objection sustained by the Court. Q.—Were you not once brought before the police magistrate, Mr. Pemberton, on a charge of having raped a squaw? A.—Yes. Q.—Were the witnesses sworn before Mr. Pemberton? A.—No; the interpreter was, but the witnesses were not. Q.—You were sent for trial to this Court? A.—Yes; and was acquitted; His Lordship, in discharging me, complimented me, and said there was not a stain upon my character. Mr. Ring defended me then, and I paid him well for it, too [immoderate laughter]. Q.—Had the jail-book ever been altered before the time you made an erasure in it. A.—Yes: a number of times. Q.—When? A.—While John Bayley was Chief of Police, there was any quantity of erasures made in the number of prisoners in jail.

Mr. Ring here objected to these questions, as Mr. Bayley was not on trial now. Mr. Cary—If I can show that the books have been altered as a common practice, these questions are proper. An effort has been made to impeach this witness' testimony because of his discharge for tampering with the books. Bayley made erasures in the jail-book when he pleased, and they were apparently considered perfectly proper and regular.

Mr. Ring—This is putting Bayley on his trial behind his back.

Examination resumed—Erasures in large numbers have been made in the books; there are two books.

Mr. Pemberton, who was present as a witness for the defence, here gave an order, at the request of Mr. Ring, for the production of the books.

Officer Taylor, sworn—Was present at the arrest of Noel LeClerc; Carey and an Indian were also present; did not see the prisoner offer Carey any money; the prisoner could not have given Carey money without my seeing it; was only a few feet from Carey all the time we had LeClerc in custody; stuck close to prisoner all the time; he can't talk English, I believe; I swear that LeClerc gave Carey no money after he was handcuffed; neither Carey nor myself went into his (Carey's) house while the prisoner was in our custody.

Cross-examined—LeClerc could not have got his hand into his pocket without my seeing him; not a word was spoken on either side on the way to the station-house. [Witness then detailed a circumstance connected with the arrest of the man the charge against whom was erased from the jail-book by the former witness. It seems that Carey consulted with witness as to whether he was sure the right man had been arrested; they both thought some mistake had occurred in making the arrest, and Carey then went and altered the book.] Carey and the man, on the night of the latter's arrest, had been drinking in Cusheon's; never saw Carey drunk; he wasn't half-seas-over on that night; he hadn't three sheets in the wind; he wasn't top-heavy; he wasn't tipsy.

Re-examined for the prosecution. Have known Carey long—14 months; he is a sober man; and I have been with him more than any other man in town.

To a juror—We never lost sight of LeClerc after we arrested him till we took him to jail.

The Court here took a recess of three-quarters of an hour.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Court re-assembled at a quarter past three o'clock.

Mr. Ring, for the defense, addressed the Court and claimed that the information in which LeClerc had made the charge against Carey was sworn to by the interpreter, but that the prisoner had never taken the oath, and as he had not sworn, no perjury existed. There is no evidence before your Lordship that LeClerc ever took an oath.

His Lordship said that Mr. Smith, of the police, had already certified to the deposition.

Mr. Ring then went on to say that the learned Attorney-General's sweeping assertion regarding the numerous cases of perjury in this colony had, in advance, thrown a shade of suspicion over the witnesses he had called. He believed the bribe had at least been offered to the officers; the learned gentleman alluded to the previous charges against Carey, and concluded with calling upon the jury to acquit his client. The defence then called Mr. Pemberton, the police magistrate, to the stand.

Augustus F. Pemberton, sworn—Have chanced the testimony of ex-officer Carey; [jail-book shown witness:] this is the book in which the erasure by Carey was made; it has been customary, when a clerical error occurred, to run the pen through it and write over it, and not to erase the original error; I have given orders to that effect, as I found that some time ago erasures were made in the return-book in the number of rations—and I ordered that the clerical errors should be amended by running the pen through them; in this case, Carey was accused of altering the charge; when called before me, the prisoner did not appear; Carey testified that the man was drunk and disorderly; he did not inform me that he had arrested him through mistake; Taylor afterwards told me (officially) that the man was not very drunk; I fined the man, upon Carey's evidence, five shillings; Carey was sworn to tell the whole truth, but did not do so; Mr. Smith afterwards told me the charge had been altered; the jail-book contains alterations in the number of prisoners, because some days there would be a dispute as to the number of rations required; I dismissed officer Carey from his post, because of his tampering with the charge in the jail-book, and because of insolence towards me.

Cross-examined for the prosecution—Ques.—Do you think there are 50 alterations in the books? Ans.—I should be much surprised if there are. Am acting-governor of the jail in addition to being Commissioner of Police and stipendiary magistrate; have never told Carey it was improper to make erasures in the book, for the reason that he had no right to write in the book at all.

To Mr. Ring—Rinquet came to my house and told me of the alleged bribery, and at my desire he brought LeClerc to the office. Cross-examination continued—Then at your desire, he came to your office; you took his statement and then sent him up for trial to the Court of Assizes for giving a bribe? Ans.—I ordered Rinquet to bring him to my office. Mr. Cary—oh, you ordered him to come and then sent him to prison. And you gave Carey no order not to meddle with the jail-books? Ans.—Not to my recollection. Ques.—Was not this very book left in Mr. Bayley's hands from Saturday night till Monday morning, during the time you was engaged in investigating a very serious charge against him?

Mr. Ring objected to the course of the Attorney General.

Mr. Cary—The Chief Commissioner of Police comes here to blast Mr. Carey's character by showing that an erasure had been made by him, and what is the result? We find that numerous erasures have been made before.

Mr. Pemberton—This book is not under my charge.

Mr. Cary—Did you not have every book under your charge? A.—Yes. Q.—Was not Bayley allowed to keep this book for twenty-four hours, pending the investigation of a serious charge against him? A.—Not to my knowledge. I heard sometime ago, however, that he did take the books on that occasion; but am not certain who told me of it. Q.—Has there not been jailors on your forces who could not write. A.—If there has been, I do not know it; [erasure in book shown witness] I see the erasure, but it was not proper to make it. I made an examination into Mr. Bayley's accounts, and found that they came out correct to within seven or eight dollars. Q.—Then this system of erasure has been going on since the 19th of January to the 22d of December, 1860. A.—Not continually. Q.—There are a great number of alterations in regard to the number of prisoners, are there not? Yes; but Mr. Bayley's accounts were correct within seven or eight dollars; those erasures were all errors. Q.—But not in the case of Carey? A.—Certainly not; he had no right to touch the books. Q.—Was the charge against Carey sustained because he made the erasure with a knife instead of a pen? A.—Yes. Q.—Then whom had you punished for the numerous other erasures? A.—All those made by Mr. Bayley I believe to have been done conscientiously; I believe Carey was taking a census of the number of Indians in town on the day of the night on which he arrested the man on a charge of selling whisky to Indians, the same person whose charge he afterwards altered to drunk and disorderly; his duty compelled him to go into every house, but not at 12 o'clock at night; this is not the first criminal charge on which Carey has been sent to this Court; did not swear the Indian witness, but swore the interpreter.

His Lordship thought these questions very irregular.

Mr. Cary said the witness had been brought here to attack policeman Carey's credibility, and he might yet put questions that would affect witness' credibility.

Mr. Pemberton—[Bowing towards the Attorney General] I hope those questions will be put, sir.

His Lordship did not see the propriety of the questions. Mr. Pemberton was a magistrate.

Mr. Cary—I don't care; if any man under the sun, magistrate or not, comes before me as a witness, I'll question him in accordance with my duty.

Mr. Pemberton—Officer Carey has stated in his evidence that he knew nothing of Rinquet's coming before me. He did know it; he forced himself into my office and insisted that the investigation should be made public; he was an active officer when he was on the force, especially in whisky cases, where he got half the fine; he was dismissed for tipping, insolence to the Commissioner, and for the erasure.

To the jury—Carey was a very active man. Taylor is an unexceptionable man, and, I believe, truthful.

Mr. Cary—Were not Carey and Taylor highly commended by one Grand Jury for refusing to take a bribe of $500 in a whisky case? A.—Not that I remember. Q.—Wasn't it published in the daily papers? A.—It may have been.

To Mr. Ring—It was about an hour after the Court had been adjourned that I first learned that Carey had altered the charge; it was on the evidence of Carey that the man was convicted of being drunk and disorderly; Taylor's reputation for veracity is good.

Mr. Cary—Didn't Mr. Alston, officer Carey's counsel, come into your office and beg of you not to send the charge of bribery up to this Court, because the poor man [Carey] had no money to pay the expenses?

Mr. Pemberton—That was after Carey had come into my office and was insolent. I told them that very likely would refuse to indict him if I sent him up.

The evidence concluded, and Attorney General Cary, in an able argument to the jury, of an hour's length, contended that the charge had been fully proven.

After a brief charge from the Chief Justice the jury retired, and in about fifteen minutes returned with a verdict of "GUILTY," as charged in the indictment.

Mr. Ring gave notice of a motion for an arrest of judgment, and the court was adjourned until to-morrow (Thursday) morning, 31st, at 10 o'clock.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—We regret that we had only a few leisure moments last evening, and consequently saw but little of the entertainment. During the short time we were present, however, we were much pleased by the acting we witnessed. "Katharine and Petruchio," one of Shakespeare's sterling comedies, was rendered in a manner highly creditable to all concerned. Mr. and Mrs. James Stark sustained the principal characters admirably, and although the house (owing to the rain storm) was not full, seemed to please the audience greatly. This evening, "Jack Cade, or the Kentish Rebellion," and an attractive afterpiece, will be offered. Mr. Stark is acknowledged to be the best Jack Cade (next to Edwin Forrest) living, and, being a warm friend of that celebrated tragedian, has obtained from him permission to perform the piece. It is replete with incident and stirring events, and no citizen of Victoria should miss the present opportunity of witnessing its performance, as we learn it cannot be repeated during the present engagement. The house should be crammed on this occasion.

The draw in the Victoria bridge was yesterday found to be almost useless, Mr. Munroe having to spend a whole day before he could raise it and obtain a passage for the pile driver and engine, for the construction of the bridge on the new road to Esquimalt.

JOHN BUTTS.—This notorious character was yesterday arrested by Sergeant Blake and officer Welch on a charge of selling whisky to Indians. He will be examined this morning in the police court.

THE NEW BRIDGE.—We are informed that Mr. Munroe has taken a sub-contract for the construction of the new bridge on the road to Esquimalt.

THE GRAND JURY.—This body will meet again this morning at 10 o'clock, and continue the business for which they were called together.

IRELAND.—The Dublin Freeman's Journal, a liberal paper, announces that the rental of Ireland has within the last twenty years risen from £10,000,000 to £15,000,000, and the revenue has risen nearly three millions beyond what it was a century ago. Within thirty years the tonnage of Ireland has doubled; and within thirty-three years the foreign imports have risen from £1,500,000 to £5,000,000. This increase of rental and trade is very remarkable, considering how greatly Ireland has been depopulated since 1847.

DESIRABLE PROPERTY

ON ESQUIMALT HARBOR.

JOHN J. COCHRANE, AUCTIONEER, is instructed to sell on APRIL 2d, 1861,

The Valuable Mercantile Property

Section Number 3, on Esquimalt Harbor, extending back to the "Arm," with upwards of one-quarter of a mile of water frontage on each side, with deep water close in shore, in a more sheltered position than Constance Cove, and in the heaviest gale so protected that vessels can lie alongside a wharf with safety. Part of the frontage is very well adapted for a Dry Dock, and also a Patent Slip.

The Road from Victoria passes through the centre of the Property. The proposed Naval Depot and Barracks are in the immediate vicinity, and the proposed Canal uniting the two Harbors adjoins the boundary.

The value of this Property is much enhanced, from the fact of the Imperial Government selecting this portion of the Harbor for Government Works, which are to be immediately commenced. The Property has been divided into various sized Lots, to suit the nature and importance of the ground, and will be offered at the lowest price of $150 each.

TERMS OF SALE.

1st. Twenty-five per cent. of the purchase money to be paid upon the day of sale, and the balance thereon at any time within two years of the day of sale, with one per cent. interest thereon, payable quarterly. 2d. All taxes and assessments which shall be imposed upon it in respect of the lands sold, must be paid when due by the purchaser.

3d. Failing compliance with each and all of the above conditions, all previous partial payments shall be forfeited, and the land will revert to the present holder.

LEA &amp; PERRINS'

CELEBRATED

Worcestershire Sauce.

PRONOUNCED BY CONNOISSEURS TO BE THE ONLY Good Sauce, and applicable TO EVERY VARIETY OF DISH.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER from a MEDICAL GENTLEMAN at Madras, To his Brother at Worcester, May, 1851

"Tell LEA & PERRINS that their Sauce is highly esteemed in India, and is, in my opinion, the most palatable, as well as the most wholesome Sauce that is made."

EXTENSIVE FRAUDS.

L. & P. having discovered that several of the Foreign Markets have been supplied with Spurious Imitations of the "Worcestershire Sauce," the labels of which closely resemble those of the genuine Sauce, and in one or more instances with the names of L. & P. forged, they have deemed it their duty to caution the public, and to request purchasers to see that the names of LEA & PERRINS are upon the Wrapper, Label, Stopper and Bottle.

L. & P. further give notice that they will proceed against any one who may infringe upon their right, either by manufacturing or vending such imitations, and have instructed their correspondents in the various parts of the world to advise them of such infringements.

Wholesale and for exportation by the Proprietors, LEA & PERRINS, Worcester, England; Crosbie and Blackwell, and other Oilmen and Merchants, London.

Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam, a Great remedy for COLD and CONSUMPTION.—Port Lari, Shelby Co., O., June 10, 1860.—Messrs A. L. Scovill & Co.—Dear Sirs: I formerly lived in Fillmore, Putnam county, Indiana, and while I was there I was attacked with a violent cough, which reduced me very low, and I tried several remedies, all to no purpose, and finally one of my neighbors came and told me about Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs being very highly recommended for such diseases, and by recommendations I was induced to try the remedy. I used only TWO BOTTLES, and it CURED ME.

GRAY HAIRS.
BY MRS. L. H. SIGOURNEY.
Gray hairs—a marvel why they strike,
Such marvel and dismay,
No mark of wickedness or shame
Or foul disgrace are they;
As silently as infant dreams
Steal o'er the cradle-down,
They weave their silver threads
In with the black or brown.
Gray hairs—the waning beauty shrieks
Before the mirror's face,
And forth the unblest invader dies
Uprooted from its place.
Oh, Lady, stay that lily hand,
If one such guest should fall,
They say a dozen more will come
To attend the funeral.
Gray hairs—I saw the Queen of France
Arrayed in regal state,
Receive the elite of many lands,
The titled and the great,
And while her dignity and grace
Were praised by every tongue,
The long, white ringlets o'er her brow
In fearless clusters hung.
Gray hairs—when sprinkled here and there
In beard and whiskers too,
Inspire respect and confidence
More than the youthful hue;
Of knowledge of mankind they tell,
Of perhaps of serious thought,
And lessons at the expensive school
Of sage experience taught.
Gray hairs—I think them beautiful
Around the ancient face,
Like pure unsullied snows that lend
The wintry landscape grace;
When found in wisdom's ways they crown
With wealth's exhaustless store,
A prelude to that home of joy
Where change is known no more.

••• The Queen of Louis Philippe, whose hair turned gray in early life, had the courage and taste to wear it without concealment, or resorting to nostrums to restore it.

A GOOD JOKE.—A loafer, while stopping at a tavern up country, used to lounge about the bar and drink other people's liquor. Not a glass could be left alone for a moment but he would slip up and drink its contents. One day a stage driver came in, and called for a stiff horn of brandy toddy. Jehu immediately played possum by leaving his brandy while he stepped to the door. The bait took—on returning he saw his glass empty, and exclaimed with all the diabolical horror he could affect.

"Brandy and opium enough to kill forty men!" who drank that pizen?"
"I?" stammered the loafer ready to yield up the ghost with alacrity.
"You're a dead man," said the driver.
"What shall I do?" beseeched the other, who thought himself a gone sucker.
"Down with a pint of lamp oil, or you're a dead man in three minutes," answered the wicked driver. And down went the lamp oil, and up came the brandy and opium, together with his breakfast—the joke was told, and he has never drank other people's liquor since.

PADDY AND THE COMPASS.—"Can't you steer?" said the captain of a vessel to a son of Erin.
"The deuce a better hand at the tiller in all Kinsale," answered Barney, braggingly.
"Well, so far good," said the captain, "And you know the points of the compass I suppose?"

"A compass! by my soul, it's not a compass, but a pair of compasses, I have, that my brother, the carpenter left me when he went abroad; but, instead as for the pints I can't say much, for the childer spilt them intirely booring holes in the floor."

THE WORLD'S FRIEND!
Holloway's Ointment.
A Cure for Piles and Fistulas.
Inflammation of sensitive parts, piles, fistulas, and such like painful diseases may be presently relieved, and ultimately cured, by the use of per and diligent use of this cooling and healing Ointment, whose action should, in such cases, be assisted by judicious doses of Pills, as many days have elapsed the anxious patient will experience a wonderful degree of ease from this treatment. The are equally suitable to both sexes, and all ages.
Coughs, Colds, and Asthma.
These complaints of the chest come with alarming frequency. The Ointment should assiduously be rubbed at least twice a day on the chest and between the shoulders, when the violence of all symptoms will gradually give way, the breathing become longer, and the oppression less. No medicines are more efficient in chest complaints, none can be used with equal safety and certainty. Both Pills and Ointment are accompanied by very clear and simple directions for using them.

A Man who refused to have his Leg off.
"From the Kilrush Advertiser, June 2nd, 1890."
BENJAMIN COX, Esquire, Magistrate, said in the Board Room at Kilrush, that he knew a man who had been in the Infirmary and was actually turned out as incurable, on his way home to Kilrush, he purchased at least a pound of Holloway's Pills and Ointment, for, as he said, it could not be worse with him. This man, said Mr. Cox, became by their use as sound and as healthy as any man in the room. These celebrated Pills and Ointment will cure any wound, sore, or ulcer, however long standing, if properly used according to the printed directions.

Gout and Rheumatism.
The essence of these diseases lie in the blood, which has, floating through each vessel, the purifying system, which irritates and inflames every tissue it comes in contact with, and produces the hot, swollen, elastic enlargement about the joints so characteristic of gouty diseases. The philosophy of cure consists in overcoming this depravity in the blood, which is rapidly purified, by the use of the Pills. The purifying system through the pores, acts in union with the Pills, and soon effects a cure.
The various kinds of dropsies, whether windy or watery, arise from some obstruction to the free circulation through the blood vessels or lymphatics, or depend on the inflamed state of some secreting surface. Holloway's remedies, of which the efficacy cannot be exaggerated, act directly upon the blood, the absorbents, and secretions, with a power that no dropsy however inveterate, can long resist. They regulate the proper flow of blood to every organ, and purify it likewise—they alter out everything that is morbid or injurious—they thoroughly regenerate every tissue, yet potent as they are for good, they are powerless for evil. They do not contain mercury or any noxious substances. They act safely and certainly.
Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, and Old Ulcers.
This invaluable Ointment was never known to fail in the cure of any wound, any sore, or any ulcer—as can be proved by innumerable testimonials from persons who had been discharged from Hospitals as incurable, and yet by perseverance they have been cured by this invaluable Ointment. For pimples, blotches, scald heads, and scroptic humours, it is equally efficacious.
Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:
Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, Old Ulcers, Pimples, Blotches, Scald Heads, Scroptic Humours, Dropsies, Gout, Rheumatism, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Indigestion, Nervous Debility, Weakness, Debility, Flatulency and Nausea, and all complaints consequent upon a disordered state of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they are not equalled. As an agreeable stomachic, they are much admired; they sharpen the appetite, brighten the intellect, and induce new life and vigor. No one who uses these Bitters can be subject to an attack of Fever and Ague or Diarrhea.
Put up in Quat Bottles, in cases of one and two dozen, and for sale by Druggists, Grocers and Liquor Merchants everywhere.

DRUGS & MEDICINES.

Rheumatism!
PERMANENTLY CURED
BY DR. W. H. GOSS,
(Late of San Francisco.) WHO TAKES PLEASURE IN ANnouncing to the inhabitants of Victoria and vicinity that he has located himself on Trowce street, near Government street, opposite the Post Office, where he is prepared to treat all species of diseases on the Reform principle of Medical Practice, Minerals Never Being Used!
Dr. G.'s almost unlimited success, for years past, in treating all kinds of diseases, especially Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Inflammation and Chronic Diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Lungs, etc., justify him in saying to the curable, HE CAN CURE THEM, and to the incurable, he can afford relief. Those who are suffering would do well to call and consult him.
In connection with his Establishment, he has erected the MEDICATED VAPOR AND ELECTRO-CHEMICAL BATHS, which purify the blood, improve the circulation, and soothe the nervous system, by this means imparting universal warmth and strength to the entire system. They are an invaluable aid in the cure of Rheumatism and all Mercurial Affections.
Consultation at all hours. ja23 1m

Two Children Cured of Scrofula.
Cincinnati, March 4, 1859.—Messrs. A. L. Scovill &
Co.—Dear Sirs: This is to certify that my two children have been afflicted with SCROFULOUS ULC-CERS. I tried your Blood and Liver Syrup, which cured them in a remarkably short time. My wife has been afflicted for many years with the most troublesome disease—Tetter and Rheumatism—and has used a good many remedies, which have failed to cure her; this remedy has made a radical cure. If any one wants a medicine for purifying the blood, they will find the above named among the best now in use.
Formerly of the firm of Trainer & Minor.
Two doors below the Gibson House.

Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup is warranted not only to cure Scrofula, Tetter and Rheumatism, but all humors of the system, such as sores and pimples on the skin, scald-head, etc.
For sale by all the principal Druggists and by GEO.
W. SNELL, Agent for the Pacific Coast, 130 Washington street, San Francisco. n10 3m

Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach
Bitters.—No medicine has ever achieved a higher reputation. In every section of the country its merits are known and fully acknowledged. The leading physicians in the country have expressed their warm approval of this preparation, as uniting all the best qualities of a tonic and invigorant, without kindling an appetite for alcoholic liquors. In cases of diseases of the digestive organs, to which all unacclimated persons are from necessity, exposed, as the proper diet cannot at all times be had, the Bitters will be found to be the quickest corrective and most reliable remedy yet discovered. Diarrhea, Dysentery, and the various bilious and intermittent fevers all yield to the curative properties of this medicine. No person should be without the Bitters a single day.
For sale by all Druggists and dealers generally everywhere, and by GEORGE W. SNELL,
n10 3m 130 Washington street, San Francisco.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.
The only pure and genuine Balsam is, and for nearly twenty years has been, prepared by WISTAR FOWLE & Co., of Boston; and their printed name, as well as the written signature of I. BUTTS, appear on the outer wrappers. As you would avoid the spurious and have the genuine, take no other!
Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.—This is valuable remedy is the best extant for the safe, sure, speedy and permanent cure of Coughs, Colds,
Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pleurisy, Pneumonia, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bleeding at the Lungs, pain in the breast or side, and in fact every form of Chest and Lung Complaint, as well as CONSUMPTION itself.
This household remedy should be in the hands of every family and individual, as a timely application of it to a slight cold will cause immediate relief;
while cases of long standing, obstinate, and apparently incurable character, will surely yield to its wonderful curative powers and its great adaptation to the wants of man when afflicted.

Greeleys' Bourbon Bitters.
THE POPULARITY OF THESE BITters is justly due to their purity, and the delicate combination of simple alteratives and tonics so well calculated to act upon every part of the digestive organs, and through them to reach and cure all complaints arising from a diseased condition of the Stomach and Bowels.
GREELEYS' BOURBON WHISKY BITTERS
are highly nourishing and fattening, and as a Tonic for old people, delicate ladies, consumptive patients, and all weakly persons, they cannot be surpassed. In all cases of Weakness or Debility, they will give immediate relief, and impart a strong, healthy tone to the system. For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nervous Debility, Liver Complaints, Weakness or Debility, Flatulency and Nausea, and all complaints consequent upon a disordered state of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels, they are not equalled. As an agreeable stomachic, they are much admired; they sharpen the appetite, brighten the intellect, and induce new life and vigor. No one who uses these Bitters can be subject to an attack of Fever and Ague or Diarrhea.
Put up in Quat Bottles, in cases of one and two dozen, and for sale by Druggists, Grocers and Liquor Merchants everywhere.

TERS.
CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE.
Mokelumne Hill, Cal., June 16th, 1858.
Having suffered for fifteen years with Dyspepsia, in its worst form, and having consulted with the best physicians, and tried everything recommended without relief, I was induced to try the Oxygenated Bitters, and before I had taken one bottle I found myself much better, and continued taking them until I was entirely cured, and now enjoy as good health as I ever did in my life. I take pleasure in recommending them to all who are similarly afflicted.
